A Message from Pennsylvania Auditor General Tim DeFoor

West Shore YMCA
in Camp Hill, PA

Welcome to our Be Money $mart Activity Book! Throughout this book, you'll find coloring pages and activities to help you learn how to make smart money choices. As Pennsylvania's Auditor General, my team and I perform audits to make sure people's money is being spent properly. That's why we created this book—to teach you how to manage money!

Financial literacy is an important life skill, and you're never too young to start learning about it. We hope you enjoy these activities and share the knowledge you learn with your friends, families and classmates!

Make A Moon Jar

Cumberland Valley School District

What's a moon jar?

A moon jar is a tool that helps you save money. It has three sections labeled "save," "spend" and "share." When you earn money, you can put it in each compartment and watch your money grow!

What do I need?

A small container (like a paper yogurt cup), construction paper or cardstock for a divider, tape, markers and stickers.

How do I make it?

- 1 Cut your construction paper or cardstock into three pieces that fit inside your container. Write "spend," "save" and "share" on each piece of paper to label your sections. Tip: use your tape to stick the pieces together!
- 2 Insert the divider into the container – now you have three sections.
- 3 On the outside of the container, decorate, write or draw what you're saving your money for, spending your money on and who you're sharing your money with.
- 4 As you earn money, place it in each section and watch how quickly it adds up!
